

STEFANIE AMMENDOLEA

Stefanie Ammendolea's passion for dance began at the young age of 7, when she began her training in Ballet-Jazz. It was when École Danse123 opened its doors, however, that Stefanie took her training to whole new level. She has been training in styles such as hip hop, contemporary, musical theatre, and ballet for the past 6 years, and has also been a student of Concordia University's Theatre Program for 2 years. When Stefanie is not training or performing, she is teaching Musical Theatre and Hip Hop to children in elementary schools and dance schools all over Montreal.

Stefanie is grateful to have had the opportunity to share the stage with many Quebec artists such as Stephane Rousseau, Marc Labrèche, Grady Fury and more. She has also appeared as a Guest Dancer in several television programs on the TVA and CTV Networks. Stefanie has already accomplished her goal of becoming a versatile performer and educator, and looks forward to continue sharing her passion for the performing arts with audiences and students across the globe.
